I was born in the border town of Acuña Coahuila, Mexico. At age 7 I moved to San Antonio, which has been my home since then. I received an Associates Degree in Graphic Design from San Antonio College in 2008 and currently employed as a full time graphic designer. My current art work includes public and private murals throughout San Antonio, numerous large scale chalk paintings in San Angelo, San Antonio TX and Chicago, IL. A series of abstract paintings that deal with human emotions as well as my personal interpretation of what it is to be alive. I give life to my paintings through the use of a discordant color palette, curvilinear shapes and lines, and frenzied textures. My drawings are broad in subject matter, observations on objects or events—I decipher their effects both personally and socially— that surround me.
